Catechism on Holy Week

When we consider the reformed Holy Week of the Ven. Pius XII, the dates are useful. The Ordo Hebdomadae Sanctae (Order of Holy Week) of 1955-1956 begins the huge changes in the liturgy, the “battering ram” as Fr. Braga said, against the traditional liturgy. I’ll just abbreviate it as OHS 1956.

One of the first changes had to do with the color of the vestments. In the Missale Romanum 1952 (MR 1952 from here on), violet is used for both the procession and the Mass following. But in the archives of the Commission for the changes, the justification to change the color came from a professor of pastoral theology from a Swiss seminary. He said, “One thing that perhaps might be done...the color red might be restored as was used in the Middle Ages for this solemn procession. The color red recalls the royal purple. In this way the procession is distinguished as something sui generis.”

Several things should be noted about this. First, perhaps red does recall the royal purple, but it is very difficult to see how. In the traditional Roman Rite, red always signified either the blood of martyrdom or the fire of the Holy Ghost, though in the Ambrosian Rite it symbolizes the blood of the Passion.

Second, the assertion that this was the practice in the middle ages turns out to be unproven. There is no evidence for this.

Third, the search for things that are sui generis in the liturgy and then inserting them willy-nilly into the liturgy is a questionable practice.

The use of violet for both the procession and the Mass shows I think, a better connection between the two events of the triumphal procession into Jerusalem, and the fact that He was entering the city in order to suffer, die and be buried. The use of violet therefore, is the better symbolism.

The Carmelite Monastery is located at 6138 S. Gallup St. in Littleton, about 1 mile from OLMC.

From the Pastor:

- The intention for this week’s Holy Hour is in thanksgiving for all those that God is calling to the priesthood, that they might have the courage to respond.

- What a boon to have the seminarians with us again. I’m so grateful to the ladies of the Altar and Rosary Society who put together the meals; to Jodi Lacroix for coordinating the lodging; the Knights of Columbus for doing the cooking; all those who brought food for the pot-luck; to Peter Doran for helping with the games; to the FNE for cleaning everything up. What a lovely day that was. We are so blessed in the FSSP to have such good seminarians. Brave lads!

- I heard over and over from the seminarians and their professors what a blessing that weekend was to them. I’m so grateful to you for your excellent hospitality to them.

- Construction (though at the moment demolition) is going better than expected. You never know sometimes what you’re going to find when you tear into a building...but estimated completion is the last week of November.

- The FNE Mass celebrated at 4 PM on Saturdays, twice a month, is open to any parishioner, but it is not of Sunday obligation.

- I’d like to start up the high school religion class again, but September was too busy. So the next class will be Oct. 27 at 11 AM, and we’ll pick up where we left off.

- Every adult parishioner ought to have his or her personal daily Mass missal. It is one of the most important, if not the most important spiritual books a Catholic can own. Reliance on the red missalettes is not the ideal.

- “What a volume this has proved to be! Peter said it all in a single sentence. And how much better! When, after those who declined to believe in Christ's promise of the Blessed Sacrament had turned away to walk no more with Him, Christ, with infinite pathos, said to Peter, 'Will you also leave me?' How I wish you could make Peter's words your own. They are as true now as they were then. 'Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life.' "Before you go, my child, be sure to whom else you can go. There is no one. There has never been another. There can be none now or at any time. Christ, and the Church to which He committed them, alone have the words of eternal life." Fr. Daniel Lord, S.J.

- “Liberalism: "A philosophy that stresses human freedom to the neglect and even denial of the rights of God in religion, the rights of society in civil law, and the rights of the Church in her relations to the State. It was in this sense that Liberalism was condemned by Pope Pius IX." Fr. John Hardon's Modern Catholic Dictionary, 1980.
