From the Pastor:

- The intention for the Holy Hour this Thursday is for the Supreme Court Justice who will take the place of Justice Ginsberg.

- I put in the bulletin last week a blurb on my support for Prop. 115, which would ban abortions at 22 weeks, without the input of the state's Democrat governor or legislature. Pro-abortion opponents of the initiative include Planned Parenthood, the American Civil Liberties Union, and Denver abortionist Warren Hern, who called legislative "interference" with abortion "not acceptable." But there are pro-life opponents to this too, who argue that if the measure passes, and if Roe v. Wade is overturned, then there is a danger that the law would allow abortion before 22 weeks despite the overturning. I've no expertise in the legal argument here, but I must vote in favor of the proposition.

- Adult education will be held on the 29th.

- Fr. Nolan will be leaving for his canonical retreat this Wednesday, and will return on the 6th.

- I took a shot at cohabitation in my last sermon, and would like to follow it up with something a bit stronger, begging God that none of our parishioners would fall into that trap. For this, a lady gave me a copy of what someone wrote called A Rite for Doing the Wrong Thing. It's edgy, and I hope you don't take offense of it. But if you know someone who might be contemplating cohabitation, and yet may be open to the truth, you could give them this.

"I _____ take thee _____ to be my live-in lover, to share some of my bed and some of my bills. I enter this arrangement with no real expectation that it will work out – which is why I am choosing not to marry you. Let's face it, we don't know each other well enough to make a commitment, we just like sleeping together. My decision – to the extent that it was a decision and not just an impulse driven by fear, loneliness or lust – is based on hormones, economics and convenience. If this arrangement becomes inconvenient, I retain the right to leave you at any time for any reason and not be accountable to anyone for my decision. I will stay as long as you interest me and meet my needs, or until someone I like better comes along. Because I expect the same from you, I will maintain a certain emotional distance from you. That way, if either one of us decides to leave, it won't hurt as much. It will also make it possible for me to more quickly enter into a similar arrangement with someone else.

If you get really sick or lose your looks, or prove to be a person who has deep needs which drain my emotional energy, I will try to stick around for a respectable period of time so I won't appear shallow or self-absorbed, but then I will probably leave and never look back. I expect you to do the same. If our birth control method fails and we conceive a child, we can either get married out of guilt or shame, or one of us can leave – believing that the other is not a fit parent – or we can have the baby killed to preserve the sanctity of our personal freedom. Raising children, after all, requires commitment and responsibility – the very things we are trying to avoid by living together without getting married.

If we do decide at some point to make a public commitment to one another (like you, I don't like using the "m" word just yet), I also realize that our decision to live together before making that commitment significantly reduces our chances of having a successful marriage. (Oops, I said the "m" word – but you know I didn't mean it.)

I feel better having said these things to you. It's good that neither of us has any illusions."

National Life Chain Sunday

October 4th, 2020 2 PM – 3 PM

Please join us for our 17th annual Life Chain event.

Once a year, pro-life people all over the country gather to pray for an end to abortion. There are 17 cities in Colorado alone that hold Life Chains. The one nearest our church is on the corner of Broadway and Belleview in Englewood. Signs are provided so please come and join us for one short hour of PEACEFUL, PRO-LIFE WITNESS. Come see how easy it really is. We hold a sign on the public sidewalk and pray - The signs do the talking and the Holy Spirit does the rest!

Safety first, of course. No graphic pictures. Feel free to bring strollers, umbrellas and water bottles, rosaries.

Wear sunscreen and your favorite Pro-life t-shirt. Signs are provided at the southeast corner of Broadway and Belleview starting at 1:55pm.

For questions or encouragement, call Mary Hoeft at 303-475-3642. For additional information visit: www.lifechain.org

Vespers

OLMC now chants Vespers (and Compline, the prayer that completes the day and embraces the night) every Sunday at 5:00 PM. It lasts about 45 minutes and includes some solemn ceremonies that are very redolent of the High Mass. The text (as booklets) is easily found on the internet and there are some books of music available too.
