Catechism on Holy Week

I've mentioned the Consilium a number of times, and here is a little bit about it, from an article by Fr. Hugh Somerville-Knapman.

After several decades of liturgy wars, few are unaware of the turbulent history of the post-conciliar liturgy since the New Order of Mass (Novus Ordo Missae) was promulgated 50 years ago, on April 3, 1969, by Pope Paul VI with his apostolic constitution, Missale Romanum. The Novus Ordo was produced in a mere five dizzying years by a committee of bishops, guided by an assemblage of experts. The process itself was a novelty, starkly contrasting with the gradual and organic growth (over more than 1,500 years) of the liturgy it replaced.

The Vatican Council's constitution on the liturgy, Sacrosanctum Concilium, was promulgated by Paul VI on December 4, 1963. Little time was lost in its implementation. With the motu proprio, Sacram Liturgiam, of January 25, 1964, Pope Paul VI erected a committee to revise all the liturgical rites, to be called the Consilium ad exsequendam Constitutionem de Sacra Liturgia (Consilium), "the committee for carrying out the constitution on the Sacred Liturgy". The committee's first president was Cardinal Giacomo Lercaro of Bologna, and its secretary was the controversial Fr. Annibale Bugnini. The Consilium is arguably the most ambitious but ill-starred committee in the Church's history. Its membership was large and international in spread. Its initial 42 members (later 51) were mostly bishops; assisting them were more than 200 official consultants and unofficial advisers. Despite the use of working groups, plenary sessions of the Consilium were unwieldy and procedurally flawed.

The assessment of the Consilium's first plenary meeting in the diary of Ferdinando Antonelli, OFM, a full member (later a cardinal), was not flattering: "Merely an assembly of people, many of them incompetent, and others well advanced on the road to novelty. The discussions are extremely hurried ... and voting is chaotic ... Of 42 members, yesterday evening we were 13, not even a third of the members."

Please pray for the repose of the souls of:

From the Pastor:

- The intention for this Thursday's Holy Hour is for the priests and seminarians of Our Lady of Guadalupe Seminary

- What a blessing it was to have the seminarians with us again! Thanks to all those who hosted these splendid young men. Thanks to those who helped organize the visit. Thanks to the Knights of Columbus who did the cooking at the picnic. Thanks to all those who brought the rest of the food for the potluck, and many thanks to the FNE for cleaning up at the park. What blessings there were, what camaraderie, and joy. And what life to see all those families, those children playing and enjoying themselves. And there are so many good, good parents at OLMC. I'm so blessed to be here.

- And yet while we were so enjoying ourselves, Mr. Paul Wencko died, at about 4 PM. He was a superb parishioner, the kind of parishioner pastors long to have. His faith, generosity, courtesy, good cheer, kindness, support, and encouragement were exemplary. Do pray for the repose of his soul and the consolation of his loved ones. Rest in peace, good and faithful servant!

- When you read this, I will be away for a combination of vacation and light work. Earlier in the year, I had signed up for the backpacking expedition of Wyoming Catholic College this summer, but had to back out for the ordination of Fr. Thomas Mary. They understood of course, but I felt kind of bad about standing them up. However, they needed a chaplain for a one week climbing expedition. So I'll be in Utah for that, coming back Oct. 5. I won't be climbing, because my pain levels are still too high, but will be working on several projects while the kids are busy, such as finishing the last chapter of my book on marriage.

OLMC's FNE group will have an information table after the 8:30 and 10:30 Masses TODAY.

- With the upcoming construction on the parish hall, we will have very little space for the parents who need to take the children out in the connecting hall. And the parish keeps growing – which is a wonderful problem – but still a problem. There isn't all that much room left, even at the 12:30. So, your priests brainstormed about this, and we think we have a solution. With a small amount of construction and the addition of a staircase, we make a temporary choir loft over the main chaise which is over the vestibule, also moving the organ up there. The sound will be better for the music anyway. Then, we put in a glass wall where the choir currently is, and replace the heavy wooden doors of the vestibule with glass. We should be able to gain as much as 30 seats in the present choir area, and 60 seats in the choir loft, plus more room in the vestibule for anyone who needs to step out for a bit, where there is room for about 10. So without a big expense (I've yet to get an estimate), we could possibly gain 90 seats and have better acoustics for the music, and a much better place for the parents with little ones that need to be taken outside. Please pray for this initiative. More on this later.

- The Capuchins are having a 2019 Road to Rome Raffle, with many choices such as a stay in a luxury suite across the street from St. Peter's Basilica and the Vatican Museum. The friars use this as a fundraiser, and raffle tickets are 1 - $50, 3-$135, 5-$220 or 10 for $400 and can be purchased online at RoadtoRomeRaffle.com. One of the friars will be at each of the Masses next weekend. Drawings will take place October 12, November 12 and December 5. Proceeds benefit the lives and ministries of the Capuchin Franciscans Friars. You've probably seen some of the brothers coming to Mass here, or at the parish picnic.
