Catechism on Holy Week

When we consider the reformed Holy Week of the Ven. Pius XII, the dates are useful. The Ordo Hebdomadae Sanctae (Order of Holy Week) of 1955-1956 begins the huge changes in the liturgy, the “battering ram” as Fr. Braga said, against the traditional liturgy. I’ll just abbreviate it as OHS 1956.

One of the first changes had to do with the color of the vestments. In the Missale Romanum 1952 (MR 1952 from here on), violet is used for both the procession and the Mass following. But in the archives of the Commission for the changes, the justification to change the color came from a professor of pastoral theology from a Swiss seminary. He said, “One thing that perhaps might be done...the color red might be restored as was used in the Middle Ages for this solemn procession. The color red recalls the royal purple. In this way the procession is distinguished as something sui generis.”

Several things should be noted about this. First, perhaps red does recall the royal purple, but it is very difficult to see how. In the traditional Roman Rite, red always signified either the blood of martyrdom or the fire of the Holy Ghost, though in the Ambrosian Rite it symbolizes the blood of the Passion.

Second, the assertion that this was the practice in the middle ages turns out to be unproven. There is no evidence for this.

Third, the search for things that are sui generis in the liturgy and then inserting them willy-nilly into the liturgy is a questionable practice.

The use of violet for both the procession and the Mass shows I think, a better connection between the two events of the triumphal procession into Jerusalem, and the fact that He was entering the city in order to suffer, die and be buried. The use of violet therefore, is the better symbolism.

The Carmelite Monastery is located at 6138 S. Gallup St. in Littleton, about 1 mile from OLMC.

From the Pastor:

- The intention for this week’s Holy Hour is in thanksgiving for all the FSSP seminarians who have answered God’s call in these perilous times.

- Speaking of vocations, young ladies who feel a call to religious life as active or semi-contemplative nuns ought to consider the following which I received from Sr. Mary Regina:

"Labor Mariae is a semi-contemplative Marian community of Sisters in the Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph. We consecrate ourselves wholly to Jesus through Mary, and seek to participate in Our Lady’s labor of bringing souls to birth in Jesus Christ (cf. Rev. 12:1-2).

We participate in Our Lady’s labors in three main ways: through the Sacred Liturgy, which consists in our daily assistance at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass according to the Usus antiquior and of our praying in common all the Hours of the (1962) Divine Office; through our interior life, which is nourished daily by 1½ hours of prayer in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament and by our devotional prayers (such as the daily Holy Rosary and the Via Crucis); and through our apostolic service, especially in the service of priests and of family life at the parish. Contact information: Sister M. Regina, L.M. * Mater Divinae Gratiae Convent * 600 N. Liberty Street * Independence, MO 64050 * filiaelaborismariae@gmail.com * 415-310-7598"

- You’ve probably noticed that the cross on top of the altar had to be lowered a bit. This was tricky but accomplished in good order, to make room for the new ceiling. If there are any parishioners who would like to contribute to the project, let me know, especially if you would like some memorial to be done.

- Fr. Earl Eggleston will be here next weekend just passing through, but will take one of the Sunday Masses. It will be good to see him again!

- On a brief backpacking expedition in the Gore Range last Sunday night, there was a full moon. I let the fire die down and went for a short walk in the forest where I was camping. The moonbeams streaming through the spruce trees were so bright I didn’t need a flashlight. I went for a walk and said five decades in that atmosphere, which was utterly enchanting.

“It occurs to me that I’m a living fossil - a rare sapient hominid without a cellphone, a Facebook account or a Twitter handle. For thousands of years we have gotten along nicely without instantaneous long-distance communication devices conjoined with a camera and portals to entertainment and data. As a species, we have excelled at fashioning objects into tools that serve a meaningful purpose - improving the general quality of our survival. However, the smart phone has transformed us into tools of these devices. We have become slaves to technology and the concept that "technology makes things easier." Perhaps many human activities were not intended to be easy - maybe the complexities of actual human interaction are richer, more valid when taken along with the attendant messy difficulties.”
- Lament from Epirus: An Odyssey into Europe’s Oldest Surviving Folk Music by Christopher King.
